Crows Easy to Train to Talk, Mrs. Paul Beltz Says

HEY DONNA! HEY DONNA! Those were the words coming from the back yard and not a person was back there to say 'em. It wasn't a radio, it wasn't a recording. But those were the words and this isn't a mystery story.

I went out to see Mrs. Paul Beltz in Ledford yesterday afternoon and those two birds you can see right here close in a picture were the object of my visit. "They're around in the back," Mrs. Beltz said to me as I approached the front porch where she stood, and to the back is where we started.

As we rounded the corner at the rear of the house I heard a distinct, rather deep voice say, "Hey Donna! Hey Donna!" "There are my two talking crows, and I'm sure proud of them," Mrs. Beltz said to me as she pointed to a large cage adjacent to a blossoming peach tree. There on the ground was a beagle with a litter of ten pups, a cat and a kitten and a tiny dog and up there in the cage were the two crows, Joe and Pete.

Mrs. Beltz spoke to the crows and Joe spoke up. "Guess you're going—guess you're going." It was easy to understand him.

"Every time you come out they say 'guess you're going,'" Mrs. Beltz explained to me. "It's because they've heard me say, 'Guess you're going, Donna,' to my grandchild when she was leaving."

Joe is two years old and does about all the talking. Pete is younger and is learning to say "hello."

"My husband is working upstate now," she said "but when he was home and working around in the yard Joe used to say to him 'Water, Paul, water, Paul.'"

Mrs. Beltz says crows are easy to train to talk.

"It doesn't take a lot of patience," she said. "I just come out once in a while and talk to them and they pick it up. You don't have to do any tongue splitting like some people say. Just feed them and talk to them—they'll start repeating what you say. They'll eat just about anything—apples, oranges, or anything I eat."

She said when her son drives in late, sometimes Joe will say "Where you going, Johnny?" and when he answers "I just got home," Joe will say "Home, home."

Some time back Mrs. Beltz got two young crows and had them talking. They got so tame she let them out of the big cage and lost them.

Then two years ago she got Joe as a baby bird and later got Pete. Back in another cage she has two more that are too young to teach.

Mrs. Beltz laughed as she told about an insurance man coming to her house one day.

"I was over at my daughter's not far away and I saw him stop at my house. I started home and when I got there he was in the back yard saying, 'I hear you, Mrs. Beltz but I can't find you.'"

Aerial Superhighways

President Eisenhower to Send Congress Far-Reaching Plan for Air Safety

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower plans to send Congress a broad air-safety program including a proposal to create aerial "superhighways."

The blueprint, drawn up by the President's aviation facilities planning group, would provide for:

—Creation of a powerful independent airways modernization board charged with coordinating all research in the field of air safety.

—Drastic revision of present air traffic rules to eliminate the increasing collision menace.

—An aerial "superhighway" network with certain routes reserved for planes of similar speeds.

Edward P. Curtis, chairman of the planning group and vice president of Eastman Kodak, gave Eisenhower and Republican legislative leaders a preview of the plan Tuesday at the White House. Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) said afterward it probably would be sent to Congress Thursday.

The Curtis group would create virtual aerial "superhighways" by reserving different high-density routes for planes with similar speed capacity.

For example, the New York-Washington airway would be increased from two to six. Some would handle only twin-engine planes while others would be for faster four-engine airliners. Such a system would compare to an automotive highway with one lane reserved for trucks and another for faster private cars.

By assigning airways according to aircraft speed, the Curtis plan would eliminate a current potential danger—a faster airliner overhauling a slower one at the same altitude.

Gallatin Democrat, Shawneetown, And Ridgway News Change Hands

Sale of The Gallatin Democrat, a weekly newspaper published at Shawneetown, and The Ridgway News, a weekly newspaper published at Ridgway, was announced today by Roy Clippinger, president of the Carmi Times Publishing Co., owners of the newspapers.

Purchasers are Mrs. Daisy M. Seright, J. O. Wells and Curtis G. Small. Mrs. Seright is president and majority stockholder of The Register Publishing Co., publisher of The Daily Register. Mr. Wells and Mr. Small are also officers of the corporation and are principal owners of The Times-Leader, a weekly newspaper published at McLeansboro.

Effective date of the sale of the Gallatin county newspapers is at the close of business Saturday.

The Gallatin county papers have a long history of service to their communities. They were purchased about four years ago from P. J. Vatter, and since that time have been printed in the plant of the Carmi Times, but a commercial printing shop was continued in Shawneetown and an editorial bureau in Ridgway.

Thos. J. Scherrer is editor of the two newspapers, and the new owners have announced that he will continue in this capacity, and that the personnel of the establishments will not be changed.

The new publishing firm will be known as Gallatin County Publishers.

In announcing sale of the newspapers, Mr. Clippinger stated he proposed to consolidate his interests in White County, where his organization publishes the Carmi Times and the Norris City News. His plant at Carmi also prints the Egyptian Legionnaire and handles a considerable volume of commercial printing.

Four Children Killed by Truck

SAFFORD, Ariz. (AP)—A pickup truck ploughed into a group of children walking along a quiet side street, killing four of them and critically injuring two others, sheriff's officers said Wednesday.

All of the dead and one of the injured were members of the same family.

Officers identified those killed in the incident Tuesday night as Virginia Bracamonte, 12; Avelino Bracamonte, 5; Andy Bracamonte, 9; and Patsy Bracamonte, 7.

Critically injured were Roberto Bracamonte, 8, and Ray Arrellin, 14. Hospital authorities said these two were injured so seriously that they might die.

The driver of the truck, identified by officers as Antonio Olivas, a 62-year-old laborer, was booked in county jail pending charges of negligent homicide and driving under the influence of alcohol.

First reports stated the children were walking along East Safford St. in a tightly packed group when the pickup truck ploughed into them. Officers charged Olivas with crossing over to the opposite side of the street in crashing into the children.

Garrison Asks Court to Quash Indictments

Challenge of Grand Jurors Filed in Circuit Court

County Clerk Don B. Garrison, challenging the grand jury that indicted him on charges of embezzlement, today asked the court to quash the indictments.

A number of indictments charge Garrison with embezzlement of $6,400 in county funds.

Filed in circuit court today by Joe M. Butler, attorney for Garrison, was a challenge of the array of grand jurors and a motion that the indictments be quashed.

In asking for the indictments to be quashed, it was charged that:

(a) The grand jury was not selected in compliance with the requirements that it be pro-rated according to the townships as nearly as possible;

(b) Supervisors in instances selected the same persons term after term from jury lists purportedly prepared annually by the county board.

It was contended that the September, 1956, grand jury which returned the indictments contained the names of five grand jurors which had served on at least two other grand juries since approval of a list Oct. 20, 1955, and for that reason the grand jury panel should be declared null and void.

The Garrison trial has been set for next week before Judge Harold L. Zimmerman of Marion.

Budget Slashes Spur Talk of Tax Cuts This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Talk of possible tax cuts spread Wednesday in Congress.

It was spurred by new cuts in President Eisenhower's record peacetime budget, pushing total House cuts so far to beyond the one billion dollar mark.

One influential Democrat said the President certainly would call for tax cuts next year. He said the Democrats should beat him to the punch.

Rep. Noah Mason (R-Ill.), a member of the tax-writing House Ways & Means Committee, said the House was certain to cut the budget enough for a tax cut this year.

A number of the economy bloc in the House predicted the cuts would pass the three billion mark.

But despite the talk, the Democratic leadership gave no sign it has decided to push for tax reduction. And the Senate remained a question mark. Even if the House did cut taxes, would the Senate sustain them?

Other congressional news: McLeod: Some Democratic senators planned to give Scott McLeod an intensive questioning when his nomination as ambassador to Ireland comes up in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. They indicated they particularly want to question McLeod—currently State Department Security administrator—regarding his office's role in the case of suicide-victim E. Herbert Norman, Canadian ambassador to Egypt.

Corn: The Senate was expected to vote late Wednesday or Thursday on legislation boosting corn planting in the nation's main corn belt. Predictions of passage increased. However, similar legislation has been defeated twice already this year in the House.

Food Prices: A congressional report said retail food prices increased 16 per cent in the last 10 years while prices paid farmers for the same products declined 14 per cent. The House Consumer Study subcommittee drafted the report.

Switchblade Knives Outlawed by Bill Signed by Stratton

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Switchblade knives were outlawed under a bill signed into law Tuesday by Gov. William G. Stratton.

NOW WHAT?—Foul weather left a trail of death and destruction across the South from Texas to the sea and torrential rains flooded the lowlands. Here cattle take refuge on an old rampway to a barn which was knocked down by the waters from overflowing creeks in the Cartersville, Ga., area. In the midwest mixed rain and snow storms have flooded many areas. (NEA Telephoto)

Four Bills Approved

House Committee Action on Additional State Policemen Stalled by Ex-Sheriff

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—House committee action on Gov. William G. Stratton's request for 500 additional state policemen as part of his highway safety program was stalled until after Easter by a former Tazewell county sheriff.

Rep. George L. Saal (D-Pekin), the former sheriff, called a quorum in the House Motor Vehicles Committee Tuesday as the state police bill came up and a roll call showed not enough members were present to take action. A vote, however, could have been taken if Saal did not question the quorum.

The Illinois Sheriffs Assn. is opposed to the increase in state police. State Treasurer Elmer Hoffman, who was a teammate of Stratton in the November election, is an official of the sheriffs' association and has announced the group will fight the state police increase.

Before Saal called the quorum, the committee had voted approval of the first four bills in Stratton's highway safety program.

Three of them would increase the driver's license fee from $1 to $3 with the additional money going to high school driver training programs.

Prohibit Water Fluoridation. The fourth bill approved would require persons to be re-examined for driver licenses when they reach the age of 70.

Saal's action also delayed a possible committee vote on Stratton's bills for a fixed highway speed limit of 65 miles an hour daytime and 55 at night with lower limits for trucks.

The committee now will not meet again until after its Easter recess.

In other legislative action Tuesday, a bill was introduced to prohibit fluoridation of public water supplies in Illinois. Many Illinois communities treat their water with fluorine compounds as an aid in preventing dental decay.

The House passed a bill providing a fine up to $500 for eavesdropping on confidential discussions between an attorney and his client.

The Senate passed and sent to the governor a bill to permit insurance companies to write life, accident and health insurance on pets and other animals.

Also sent to the governor was a bill to permit the Public Safety Department to transfer prisoners from Vandalia State Farm to prisons when the penal farm becomes overcrowded.

Another bill introduced would require use of voting machines in all counties in all statewide elections. It would authorize bond issues to buy the machines.

Another new bill would prohibit employers from paying their workers by check unless they furnished "convenient facilities" for the cashing of checks.

Another bill would regulate trading stamps by requiring that all such stamps used in Illinois be redeemed within two years.

Says Gov't Can Not Revert to 1890 Practices

Does Not Believe Basic Programs Will Be Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Wednesday strongly defended the programs of his administration against criticism by conservatives in Congress—Republicans and Democrats alike.

Eisenhower told his news conference that this government cannot revert to the theories and practices of 1890. A Republican—Benjamin Harrison—was president in 1890.

The President said he did not believe that the difficulties encountered by some basic administration recommendations in Congress reflected a diminution in his own political power due to the automatic prohibition against his seeking another term.

He stated his beliefs at some length after a reporter told him his recommendations were running into stormy congressional weather among Republicans as well as Democrats.

A reporter specifically mentioned the statement by Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) that the administration's big budget for fiscal 1958 represented a betrayal of the people's trust.

Eisenhower mentioned no one by name. But he said it was plainly evident that the United States no longer could limit itself to the political and governmental practices of 1890. He said the government must be conducted in the light of national economic and world conditions of the present.

Negotiating on Suez

He said there is bound to be a clash of ideas and opinions in a society such as ours and that some people obviously become more heated than they should.

Other news conference highlights:

—He called for understanding of recent British defense reductions. He said the United Kingdom since World War II had encountered difficulty keeping her economic nose above water and that the world should understand that the security position of a nation is not always determined wholly by the number of her troops but equally by the state of her economy.

—He said U. S.-Egyptian negotiations on the Suez Canal are continuing and that he hopes for a satisfactory conclusion. Because of this hope, he said the United States is not prepared at this time to recommend referral of the Suez to the United Nations Security Council.

—He continued his week-to-week defense of his big 1958 budget. He said it is a terrific amount to extract from the economy and, while some savings might be possible, they can be achieved only by re-study and re-evaluation of the major, more costly programs of the government.

—He thought it was illogical to attempt to curb Japanese exports to this country while at the same time attempting to tell the Japanese they cannot trade with Red China. He said there is no prospect of this country ending its embargo on trade with Communist China. But, he said, it is difficult to see how the Japanese can make a living if we try to impose heavy duties and quota restrictions on her products and not leave her with other territories in which she can do business.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Senate Sleuth Surine Gets Ax From His Boss, McCarthy; Ike's Helicopters For Business, Not Burning Tree; Sen. Green Expounds On Perils Of Pedestrians.

WASHINGTON. — Don Surine, famed McCarthy investigator in countless Communist hearings, has just been fired. He and his boss, the senator from Wisconsin, have come to the parting of the ways. Surine, who sat beside McCarthy all during the Army-McCarthy hearings, came under fire at that time because of indiscretions with a white slave witness he had arrested as an FBI agent in Baltimore. Later he was fired by the FBI and senators claimed that he had mis-stated the facts when he said he had resigned.

Surine also got into the headlines when he took a trip to New York to collect erroneous information against Anna Rosenberg, assistant secretary of defense. This resulted in a public retraction. McCarthy, however, stuck by the chief investigator, despite demands from other senators that he be relieved.

Now, however, Surine is out. Inquirers at McCarthy's office were told: "Mr. Surine is no longer connected with this office, and we have no idea where he can be located."

Note—For McCarthy's information, Surine now has a modest job at the Federal Trade Commission.

Along Pennsylvania Ave. — One reason Ike got so sore when his helicopters were mentioned in a press conference is because they are not intended to fly him to the golf course, but to rush him out of Washington in case of atomic attack. . . . The Senate Rackets committee has uncovered evidence that certain Teamsters officials are firing out of the union any Teamsters who demand an accounting of union funds. Those expelled by the Teamsters union have had a hard time finding other jobs. . . . Sen. Olin Johnston of South Carolina at first tried to discourage veterans' organizations from testifying against his Alien Property bill. Johnston wants to give property back to Germany and the veterans are opposed. When they insisted, however, Olin let them testify. . . . Ike is grumbling privately over his doctors' failure to stop his persistent cough. Originally, they told him it would be only a matter of weeks. Now they tell him he may not be able to get rid of the cough for some time. . . . GI's are irked at the fact that 40 U. S. enlisted men will be dressed in colonial costumes to serve as scenery at Virginia's Jamestown festival, celebrating the 350th anniversary of the first permanent English colony in North America. Some army men are wondering whether the army has now gone in for play-acting. Others would rather serve as scenery than wear out shoe leather on a drill field.

SENATOR GREEN'S LIGHTS It's well known that Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island, oldest senator in history, walks to work almost every day. It is not so well known that he's an expert on traffic lights. Theodore Francis was discussing the problem of traffic lights the other day with his old friend Sumner Welles, former undersecretary of state. "Those green traffic lights were planned by people who sit in offices and don't know anything about them," complained the 89-year-old senator. "I walk to the Capitol 2 1/2 miles every day and 2 1/2 miles back, so I know something about traffic lights. "They're geared for motorists, not for pedestrians. They don't stay red long enough to let a pedestrian cross the street. "The other morning, for instance, I got to Third Street, which is rather wide and I was three-quarters of the way across when the light switched. I managed to make it across the street without getting knocked over. But as I reached the intersection I found that a car was parked three-fourths of the way on the wrong side of the white line, where parking is supposed to be forbidden. "A cop was standing there," continued Senator Green, "and I told him, 'That car is parked in a place where somebody's likely to get killed.' "The policeman was quite impatient. 'What's it to you?' he replied. "I almost told him, 'I'm Senator Green and I'll report you.' But I didn't," continued Senator Green. "I thought to myself that he's so accustomed to seeing senators in limousines driving up to the Capitol he never would believe I was Senator Green and would take me off to the station house."

CAPITAL NEWS CAPSULES GI Loans — The real estate lobby has started a quiet campaign on Capitol Hill to put GI housing under the Federal Housing Administration. This would make it easier to raise interest rates on GI home loans. The present four-and-one-half per cent rate offers so little profit for the bankers that they have openly threatened to cut off future GI loans. In fact, it's already next to impossible for veterans to get four-and-one-half per cent loans. The result has been an alarming drop in low-cost home-building.

Discouraged Salesman — Ex-Congressman James Richards, the Eisenhower special envoy to sell the Middle East Doctrine, has cabled that Dictator Nasser has probably persuaded King Saud of Saudi Arabia to renege on his support of the Eisenhower Doctrine. King Saud was given the red-carpet treatment in Washington and was the only visitor Ike ever welcomed personally at the airport. All this, according to Richards, may be undone by Colonel Nasser. The ex-congressman from South Carolina, sent abroad to sell the Eisenhower Doctrine, seems discouraged about his selling outlook.

Dictator's Pal — The bosom friendship between U. S. Ambassador William Pheiffer and the Dominican dictator, Generalissimo Trujillo, is beginning to worry State Department officials. Trujillo is using palace photographs of himself posing with Ambassador Pheiffer to show that the United States stands behind him and his murderous regime. Pheiffer is an ex-congressman from New York who was defeated 15 years ago but served as assistant to the GOP National committee during the 1952 Ike campaign. His reward: Ambassador to the dictatorship Dominican Republic where living is pleasant—when you live.

Dr. John W. Holland

Two national personalities are to appear in the Easter Sunrise program atop Bald Knob mountain this year.

Dr. John W. Holland, pastor of "The Little Brown Church of the Air" in Chicago, will deliver the Easter message. He will be assisted by Dr. Laurence C. Jones, founder and president of Piney Woods Country Life School in Piney Woods, Mississippi. Rev. R. A. Sherrell of Farmington, Missouri, will be Master of Ceremonies.

The Bald Knob choir, composed of members from some 20 southern Illinois towns, and Wayne Stevers, soloist of Mound City, will furnish the music. Choir director is Edgar Rich of Carbondale and Mrs. E. D. McGuire of Makanda, pianist.

The program is to begin at 6 a. m. this year, about 40 minutes after sunrise. Sponsors have chosen this later hour so that visitors will have daylight in which to make the scenic drive.

The campaign to raise a million dollars for a huge lighted Cross on the summit is still under way. Construction has not yet begun, however.

Bald Knob is located south of Murphysboro, near the village of Alto Pass. Roads will be marked from nearby. Routes 127, 51, 146 and 3.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D. (Written for NEA Service)

The Aurora Borealis or the Northern Lights play across the Arctic skies. Many times the phenomenon can be seen in different parts of our country. Although their light may be indistinct, their color and their flashing glow lend enchantment to our nocturnal wandering.

Seldom do these lights furnish us with enough light to find our way along a path or highway. They merely catch our attention and raise thoughts of wonder in our conscious minds.

Many a wandering light has led us astray from the straight way which we seek through life. Actually, we need the constant light of Christ in order to abate our course. In order to avoid pitfalls of temptation and materialism we need a lamp unto our feet as well as unto our souls and minds.

God has furnished this constant light in the presence and teaching of Christ.

Get Rid of 'Lousy Dispositions' for Better Health

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A doctor said Monday the best bet for good health is to "get rid of your lousy disposition."

Dr. John A. Schindler, Monroe, Wis., said "if we could keep people from having emotional stresses and upheavals we would be able to prevent half of the physical diseases we have today."

Schindler, the author of the bestseller "How to Live 365 Days a Year," said "lousy dispositions" can cause muscular rheumatism, chronic tiredness, ulcers and intestinal disorders.

Schindler said prevention of emotional stresses applies particularly to treatment of tuberculosis patients.

"Successful treatment depends heavily on their mental attitude," Schindler told the 49th annual meeting of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Assn.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Skaggs Celebrate Their Silver Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Skaggs

The Elks club rathskeller was the scene of a celebration on Sunday afternoon. The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Skaggs came in large numbers to honor and felicitate them on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Just inside the entrance to the club, a silver bowl of japonica was arranged. At the foot of the stairs, Mr. and Mrs. Skaggs greeted their guests and Mrs. V. V. Brown was keeper of the guest book and guests were invited to record their attendance. The book lay on a table covered with pink cloth against a background of white wedding bells on a lattice.

Mrs. Skaggs wore a pink sheath dress of Irish linen trimmed at the neckline with matching satin roses. She carried a corsage of pink sweetheart roses and glitter-net on her purse.

Her assisting hostesses, Mrs. M. P. McDonald, Mrs. James Earl McGowan, Letitia and Linda Skaggs, Mrs. J. W. Towle, Mrs. H. J. Raley, Mrs. O. L. Turner, Mrs. V. V. Brown, Mrs. John C. Humm, Mrs. Joe McGuire, Mrs. Mitch Golish, Mrs. Eli Lasersohn, and Mrs. James W. Gaskins, wore colorful spring dresses, each suitable to its individual wearer and these added to the beauty of the decorations.

Mrs. Dale Sullivan and Mrs. Dick Parker played organ selections making a soft, and at times sentimentally nostalgic, background of sound for the happy voices of friends talking and visiting together.

Fruit punch, hors d'oeuvres and cake were served to the guests. The cake held the place of honor, white frosted and decorated with pink sugar roses, silver pellets and white doves. Pink bountiful roses and smilax surrounded the cake and the punch bowls stood at either end of the table. Plate of hors d'oeuvres and decorated candy mints were served from the table. Guests seated themselves at tables throughout the room on which silver candles formed centerpieces. The candles were arranged in pink pompoms and glitter spangled net. Other flower arrangements about the room were of pink and white snapdragons and pink carnations accented with silver and glitter-net. White wedding bells were suspended from the ceiling.

Out of town guests included Nina and Ray Kaericher of Mt. Carmel, Miss Mildred Rood and Mrs. Clara Rood of St. Louis, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Tom McCann of Evansville, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Gola and Miss Willena Soward of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hill of Benton, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Bair of Carbondale, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Scribner, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Hunsinger, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Butler, all of Eldorado, and Arthur H. Marlin of Norris City.

The youngest guests were John Morris and Mark Warren Skaggs, sons of the Skaggs'.

Couple Asks Family Court for Permit To Take Their Three Sons to Russia

CHICAGO — Mr. and Mrs. George Kozmin appeared in family court Wednesday to press their claim for their three sons, whom they want to take back to Russia. Judge John J. Clayton Jr. said he would continue the case at the request of the Russian embassy. Kozmin, who was confined to a mental institution for several months five years ago, told news- men "America okay, but the hos- pital, it's no good."

Mrs. Kozmin, who speaks Eng- lish more fluently than her hus- band, explained that family ties prompted their decision to return to Russia.

"I like America but I want to go back," she said. "My family is in Russia."

The boys, Richard, 10, George, 8, and Paul, 7, are wards of the court. A fourth son, Peter, 8 months, was born here and is an American citizen.

The parents came to the United States in 1950 after being freed from a Russian slave labor camp. The Russian embassy in Washing- ton has demanded their four sons be allowed to accompany them to Russia.

The older boys are emphatic that they don't want to go to Rus- sia to face an uncertain future. At the same time, they want to live with their father and mother.

Richard, spokesman for his troubled brothers, has his heart set on being a cowboy.

"Who ever heard of a Russian cowboy?" asked the blond, freckle-faced youngster.

"We got all our friends here," Richard continued. "We can't leave Sugar, the cat, and Whitey, the pony. Besides, I want to be a cowboy when I grow up."

The boys' parents suffered men-

Senate Votes 'Home Rule' for Physical Education in Schools

SPRINGFIELD — The Illi- nois Senate Wednesday passed a bill ending the mandatory re- quirement for physical education programs in Illinois schools, and making such programs optional with local boards of education.

The measure also would affect the four state teachers colleges. Sen. Richard Larson (R-Gales- burg), sponsor of the bill, said it was a "home rule" measure and he believed it would not have a great effect on present physical education programs.

Several downstate senators ar- gued that physical education pro- grams were unnecessary in rural areas, but Sen. Marshall Korshak (D-Chicago) said that passage of the bill would mean "at least 50 per cent of the school districts delete" physical education from programs.

Korshak also said the Russians won the last Olympic games be- cause of "overwhelming physical superiority."

Several senators argued that the armed forces were already having difficulty with recruits and draftees being unable to pass physical examinations.

Sen. David Davis (R-Bloom- ington), vice chairman of the School Problems Commission, said the commission opposed the bill be- cause it had an alternate proposal to reduce the present 200 minutes a week physical education re- quirement to 150 minutes and let

Sore on President's Nose Caused by Ultra-Violet Lamps

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower began his news conference Wednesday with "a personal announcement" which he said he made at the insist- ence of Press Secretary James C. Hagerty.

"The sore on the end of my nose," the President said with a broad grin, "is nothing but the effect of an ultra-violet lamp."

He said his doctors had been exposing him to ultra-violet radiation in an effort to cure his tenacious cough.

The sore was a tiny but con- spicuous red spot at the very tip of the President's nose.

Special Legion Poppy Day Meeting Sunday, April 14

A special Poppy Day meet- ing will be held for members from the entire Fifth Division (Southern Illinois) of The American Legion at 1 p. m., Sunday, April 14, at The Haven in Marion.

Harold A. Cummins, Command- er, Department of Illinois, Ameri- can Legion, and Frank W. Bloom, chairman, Department Poppy Commission, will be on hand with a group of officers of the organization to work locally on the plans for the Poppy sale.

Poppy Day in the State of Il- linois will be held Saturday, May 25.

On that day, more than 50,000 men and women volunteers on street corners in cities and towns throughout Illinois will sell the little red memorial flower on be- half of the sick and disabled vet- erans and their families.

At the special Marion meet- ing will be: Mrs. Louis Lady of Chi- cago, Auxiliary Department Presi- dent; Mrs. Forrest Wood of Hen- ry, Chairman, Auxiliary Depart- ment Poppy Commission; Stanley Brothers of Bridgeport, Division Commander; H. L. Hamilton of Bridgeport, Division Poppy Chair- man; and Mrs. Christine Rocken- meyer of Mt. Vernon, Auxiliary Division Poppy Chairman.

All poppies scheduled for sale in the State of Illinois were as- sembled by veterans at veterans hospitals in the State. All monies raised will go for service and re- lief work among needy and dis- abled veterans and their depend- ents through the American Leg- ion's Service Department.

The Fifth Division of The American Legion, Department of Illinois, takes in the counties of: Madison, Bond, St. Clair, Monroe, Washington, Fayette, Marion, Clinton, Effingham, Jasper, Craw- ford, Jefferson, Richland, Law- rence, Wabash, Clay, Wayne, Ed- wards, Hamilton, White, Saline, Gallatin, Johnson, Pope, Hardin, Massac, Randolph, Perry, Frank- lin, Jackson, Williamson, Union, Alexander and Pulaski.

Best Peach Blossom Show Coming Week End

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Slowed down by cold rains and chilling squalls, peach blossom time in southern Illinois is expected to ar- rive by April 10, according to Har- old J. Hartley, secretary of the Illi- nois Fruit Council here.

First blossoms in commercial or- chards began appearing during the weekend April 7, especially in Mas- sac and Pulaski counties. Bloss- om time moves progressively northward through a week or more into the Centralia and Belleville area.

With a little help from the weath- er, area visitors will have the best peach blossom show south of Car- bondale during the coming week end, April 12-14. The region's heaviest concentration of peach or- chards is in Union county, center- ing around Anna and Cobden. Of- ten the most colorful orchards may be seen by leaving the paved high- ways and driving over all-weather by-ways.

When peach blossom time ar- rives, orchardists anxiously watch weather reports. Blossoms are at their tenderest when entirely open. Then freezing temperature, even for a few hours, may wipe out the crop, bringing serious loss in pro- spective income as well as the sub- stantial sums already spent for pruning, early spraying, and gen- eral orchard maintenance. Com- mercial orchards are well supplied with blossoms and the Illinois Fruit Council estimates that more than 600,000 bushels of peaches will move into commercial channels during the harvest season next summer if the blossoms and fruit escape serious damage.

Democrat Wins In New Mexico

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UP) — The Democratic majority in the U. S. House of Representatives held firm Wednesday with the election of Joseph Montoya in a New Mexico special election.

Montoya, 41-year-old lieutenant governor, had a 7,000-vote lead over Republican Tom Bolack with 83 per cent of Tuesday's election ballots counted. Bolack has con- ceded.

The latest count had 67,972 votes for Montoya and 60,972 for Bolack, a Farmington oil man.

Montoya, who has spent 20 years in state government in New Mexi- co, fills the seat made vacant by the death of Rep. Antonio Fernan- dez, a Democrat who died the day after he was elected to an eighth term last November. He was in a coma on election day and never knew he had been re-elected.

"I shall go to Washington a Dem- ocrat and I shall remain a Dem- ocrat," Montoya said in his victory speech.

Montoya's victory gave the Dem- ocrats a 34-seat majority in the House. They now have 234 seats to 200 for the Republicans, with one seat vacant.

Jerry Jahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Jahn and a student at the Harrisburg Township high school, won a first place at the Southern District meeting of the Illinois Junior Academy of Science held Saturday at Carbondale. He will compete for honors in the state- wide meeting of the senior Acad- emy in Norman May 3-4 along with 49 other first place winners from the Southern District.

Twenty of the first place awards went to junior and senior high school students from Murphysboro. The top senior exhibitors, both of whom were offered one year tuition scholarships to SIU, were Tom Bowlin, Carbondale Community High School, and Karen Young, Anna-Jonesboro Community High School.

Thief Invades State's Attorney's Office At Mount Vernon

Entire Music Department of Carrier Mills High Qualifies for State Contest

A "first" in the history of the Carrier Mills Community high school has been recorded by the members of the music depart- ment with every member qual- ifying for the state contest.

Wayne Minton, CMCHS music director, declared today he was sure this was the first time in the school's history all members of the music department had been eligible for state-wide competi- tion and all 85 members will be taken to the state contest to be held at Greenville college, Green- ville, May 3-4.

Saturday at the district organi- zation contests held at Murphys- boro the Carrier Mills girls' chorus won first place awards.

The Carrier Mills boys' chorus, winner of a first place rating in the state contest last year, by- passed district competition this year and advanced directly to the state meet.

March 9 district solo and en- semble contests were held and nine Carrier Mills high school en- trants received first place ratings and advanced to the state.

Carrier Mills competes in Class "C" state contests, for high schools with enrollment of less than 225 students.

In 1956, in addition to receiving a plaque for first place by the boys chorus, the CMCHS music department placed third in the sweepstakes at the state contest.

The 85 students and their direc- tor, Mr. Minton, plus other chap- erones, will make the trip to Greenville in two buses, and pri- vate automobiles.

There will be considerable ex- pense for so many and several business people and friends of the music department have already made contributions towards the expenses.

The American Waterways Oper- ators, Inc., has reported that 1956 traffic on the nation's inland wa- terways reached the hundred- billion ton-mile mark for the first time in history and said part of the year's gain reflected a sharp rise in coal traffic.

Speed Listed Leading Cause of Auto Accidents

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Driving "too fast for conditions" was the leading cause of the 27,171 motor vehicle accidents on rural highways that were reported in Illinois during 1956.

Statistics compiled by the state Division of Highways and submitted in a report to Governor William G. Stratton by Director Edwin A. Rosenstone of the Department of Public Works and Buildings showed 4,325 accidents on rural highways in the "too fast for conditions" category.

Other leading causes of the accidents were: motorists who did not have the right of way, 2,414; those who disregarded a driver's signal, 1,861; improper turning, 1,771; on wrong side of road, 1,691; following too closely, 1,672; improper passing, 1,402; reckless driving, 1,334; drivers who had been drinking, 1,109.

More accidents were recorded on Sunday than on any other day of the week and the report showed that most of them occurred in the afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock in clear weather and on straight sections of highways.

Easter Service At Williams Hill

A familiar highlight this Easter season will be the annual outdoor Easter service at Williams Hill tower. This service is sponsored each year by the American Sunday School Union under the direction of Rev. James Johnson, field missionary, Eldorado.

The music this year will be furnished by an outstanding group of Christian young people of Metrochis under the direction of Jack Kidd. They will have both instrumental and vocal numbers. Rev. C. Wesley Brown of Chicago will bring the Easter message. Mr. Brown recently came to Chicago to become the Superintendent of the Lakes District of the American Sunday School Union. His former home was Modesto, Calif.

Williams Hill has proved to be a good location for such a service, with good parking facilities to accommodate a large crowd. It is located four miles west of Rt. 34 at Herod or five miles east of Rt. 145. The service begins at 3 p. m. in order to accommodate those wishing to attend other Easter Services.

Lodge No. 458 of Carrier Mills will hold a special meeting Thursday at 6:30 p. m. There will be work in the M and M. degree. F. D. Pankey, W. M.

Lily Parade

April 20 to Aid Crippled Children

The annual Lily Parade tag day for crippled children will be held in Harrisburg Saturday, April 20. Sponsored by the Southern Illinois Association For The Crippled, Inc., in southern Illinois, the observance will be highlighted by Lily Parades for crippled children in many cities throughout the southern Illinois area.

The Southern Illinois Association For The Crippled, Inc. joins some 1,655 affiliates of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults in sponsoring Crippled Children's Day. It will be the fourth annual observance set aside during the Easter Seal campaign to help raise funds for continuing and expanding crippled children's services in this community.

In Harrisburg, Miss Jeannette James, chairman of the Lily Parade for Beta Kappa chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, which is sponsoring the event locally, reports that volunteer workers will be on the business streets all day selling white paper lilies. "These Lilies," Miss James says, are the symbol of the crippled children's organization, and are made by handicapped adults, employed by the Easter Seal Society.

Mrs. Richard C. Davenport is co-chairman.

Miss James also reports that proceeds from the Lily sale go to supplement the Easter Seal campaign from which the crippled children's camp and the Easter Seal Therapy Center is financed.

All persons who have not contributed to the campaign for crippled children, are urged to do so at this time.

The Eldorado Beta Sigma Phi, with Mrs. Pann Beck, chairman, also will hold a Lily Parade.

Europe, with an average elevation of 980 feet, is the lowest of the seven continents of the world.

BUFFALO GRASS

XXXI

The rear door of the store banged and the men at the window whirled and saw Charles Fesler dashing forward.

"Here you are, Morgan!" cried the newspaperman. "It's about time. You've told him, Buffington?"

The hardware man nodded. "I've told him that Jagger's quit, yes. And the marshal!"

"Good riddance," snapped Morgan. "He would go up against that bunch, anyway."

"You will?"

"Fesler," cried Buffington, "this isn't the same. Those men are sober, they've already killed one man."

"He's the new mayor."

"Not yet," Morgan reminded. "Yes, you are. The board of supervisors appointed you interim mayor, until the election."

Morgan said bitterly, "I was a fool to let myself in for this."

His eyes picked out a rack of rifles high on the left wall of the store. Leaving Fesler and Buffington, he strode toward the rack. When he saw where Morgan was going, Buffington followed hurriedly.

"Don't do anything foolish, Morgan," he warned again.

"Anything's foolish at this stage," snapped Morgan. "Where do you keep your cartridges?"

"In the counter there," Buffington winced, then, "I mean, I don't know where."

It was too late. Morgan had already located the cartridges. He took out a box, ripped it open and began stuffing shells into a rifle.

Out on the street, two quick rifle shots sounded. One of the bullets zinged through the wood of the front door, crashed into a stack of galvanized pails, scattering them.

"They're getting close," Morgan said grimly to the others. He drew a deep breath and turned toward the front of the store.

"Wait!" cried Fesler hysterically. "You can't bring them here. I—they'll riddle this place and kill us all."

He sent a frightened look around, saw the rear door of the store and scuttled for it.

"A good idea," growled Morgan. "Buffington, get your men and clear out."

Buffington replied by reaching for a rifle on the rack. "You and me, Morgan," he said grimly. "We both had a hand in making this town and I guess it's up to us to hold it. We can't let a bunch of killers take it away from us."

"Come, then," snapped Morgan. Reaching the door, Morgan stooped and peered through a broken pane.

The cowboys were not in as compact a group as previously. They had become restless. Two or three of the mounted men had spread out. A man on foot, with a rifle, was bent low and moving forward across the street.

Morgan gave him but a quick glance. He was searching for the towhead Brog.

He found him. He pulled the trigger. The towhead seemed to rise high in the saddle. He fell over backwards, hitting the earth heavily.

For one moment there was a stunned silence on the street of Pawnee City. Then a Texas man cried out, "The hardware store! It came from there—"

Buffington's store was instantly the cynosure of hostile eyes. Guns began to fire, but before they opened up, Morgan had pumped a fresh cartridge into the chamber of the repeater and taken a second shot at the rifleman crossing the street.

There was a mad scramble now. The unmounted Texans vaulted into their saddles. The mounted ones converged, began rushing the hardware store. Bullets smashed glass, tore through wood.

Buffington's gun spoke. Morgan fired a third time and a horse screamed and rearing up, threw its rider. Buffington brought down the cowboy as he was scrambling to his feet.

The charge of the cowboys came almost to the front door of the hardware store. One horse even reached the wooden sidewalk, skidded and jolted his rider so that the cowboy, virtually thrusting a revolver into Morgan's face, missed his fire.

The man threw away his gun in sudden fright, and scurried away on hands and knees.

There was no leader, no unity among the cowboys. They scattered, firing wildly and blindly in all directions.

And then it happened. Faces peering from doors and windows up and down the street had seen the towhead dropped with a single shot, had seen and heard the firing from the shelter of the hardware store.

Wakeman, one of the supervisors, sprang out of his livery stable with a revolver in his hand. He began firing at the scattering cowboys. The bald barber produced an old dragoon pistol, sent a crashing shot in the general direction of the cowboys.

A third businessman appeared with a shotgun that boomed over the other firing. Even Harlow Tarbox, the owner of The St. Louis Store, joined in the firing, producing a gun from behind his counter.

In moments there was no one left at whom to fire.

The score was: three dead cowboys, two badly wounded. Undoubtedly, two or three others carried wounds away with them.

None of the townsmen had been wounded. Only Artie Puffpuff lay in the dust of the street in front of Morgan's office.

Closing Show Will Not Hurt Gleason Players

NEW YORK (AP)—Jackie Gleason's TV family breaks up after June 22, but it's doubtful whether any of its departing members will starve.

With the official announcement this week that the Gleason show would be dumped by CBS-TV next fall in favor of a new Perry Mason mystery series, offers began slipping in to Gleason's under-bananas, Art Carney, Audrey Meadows and June Taylor.

Carney seems to have the roughest future in store. All three major networks are making eyes at the rubber-faced comic. Carney, however, is pretty firm on one point—he doesn't want to get mixed up with a situation comedy series.

Earlier this year, Carney and Nanette Fabray, former TV wife of Sid Caesar, were talking about teaming up for a TV variety show series. That plan fell through when Nan decided to go out on her own with a TV comedy series, "June."

"Right now, Art is not interested in any kind of a stereotyped format," says William McGaffrey, his agent. "What he'd like to do is some sort of variety show, but not on a weekly basis."

Carney also will begin looking

The Daily Register, Harrisburg, Illinois

seriously at drama scripts—his last excursion into this area on "Playhouse 90" was greeted pretty warmly by the critics.

Audrey Wants Drama Shows

Audrey Meadows is probably the most financially secure of all the Gleason cast-offs. She's happily married to Randy Route, a wealthy Washington real estate man.

"We've had offers from everybody," reports her agent, Val Irving. "She'd like to do some drama shows and if Gleason does any speculators in the fall, she'll probably be on them."

Joyce Randolph, who plays Carney's wife on the Gleason program, will do some summer stock. Last summer, Joyce worked in "Plain and Fancy" on the straw hat circuit. Joyce currently is taking dancing lessons at June Taylor's dance studio here with an eye toward diversifying her talents.

June Taylor has received offers to bring her 16 dancers to at least two other variety shows. She's also pitching an afternoon half-hour show at one network which would feature kid talent from her school. She'll take her troupe on a nightclub tour this summer.

As for Gleason, who is pretty bored with his current TV show, the immediate project in his mind is a filming of Erskine Caldwell's "God's Little Acre" for United Artists. He'll probably be around for an occasional spectacular on CBS-TV next season.

It's a cinch Gleason won't have to worry about bankbook problems. His current exclusive pact with CBS has 15 years to run. Under its terms, if Gleason decided to sit out TV, he'll still draw $100,000 per year.

Private Planes Collide; 4 Killed

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—Two private planes, with an instructor and student aboard each, collided in flight Tuesday, raining wreckage over a quarter-mile area. All four were killed.

Both planes, Cessna 140s, were from Meehan Field here. One plane was on instruments. A pilot in the area said later he heard a voice on the radio say, "there's a Cessna in your flight path."

John Lewis Senn, 38, and his student, Clarence Paul Chambers, 25, were in one plane and John Kenneth Shultetus, an instructor and Lloyd Darrell Rutledge were in the other. Their bodies were charred beyond recognition.

Woman Found Innocent Of Slaying Father Of Three Children

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP)—A jury deliberated more than seven hours Tuesday before finding Mrs. Virginia Reagan, 32, innocent of charges she murdered a 33-year-old father of three children when his wife found them with another couple in a cabin near here. When the jury ruled the gun Mrs. Reagan held discharged accidentally, she broke down sobbing. "I knew God would help me."

Boy Wonder Extends TV Winnings To $160,000 on Scientific Quiz

NEW YORK (UP)—Robert Strom, a 10-year-old wonder who lives on scientific texts and a $250 monthly allowance, jacked up his quiz earnings to $160,000 Tuesday night—the highest peak ever reached on a single TV show.

Rob, a 51-inch, 65-pound fifth grader from the Bronx, N. Y., added a tentative $32,000 to his mounting pile on CBS-TV's "The $64,000 Question" by rattling through a series of posers in physics, aerodynamics, astronomy, mathematics and electronics. He had clinched $128,000 in winnings on the program by reaching the $64,000 level twice.

Next week, Rob will try to grab an additional $32,000 which would bring him to another "safe" plateau — $192,000. This would make him undisputed quiz champion. Another youngster, 11-year-old Leonard Ross of Tujunga, Calif., won $164,000 on two shows.

Rob's only other TV competitor for sheer volume is Teddy Nadler of St. Louis who amassed $152,000 on "The $64,000 Challenge."

REVIVAL SERVICES TO BEGIN AT JUNCTION

Giants Sell Hank Thompson To Minneapolis

By United Press
Hank Thompson, one of the first Negroes to break into the American League and later a star third baseman in the National League, was sold to Minneapolis of the American Assn. Wednesday along with three New York Giants prospects.

Sent out with Thompson were pitchers Jim Constable and Fernando Rodriguez and infielder Eddie Bressoud. The cuts reduced the Giants' roster to 30 players.

Thompson and Willie Brown, also an infielder, were the first Negroes to play in the American League, joining the St. Louis Browns in 1947. Thompson, 31, was back in the Negro leagues in 1948, but in 1949 came up with the Giants and stayed with them continuously except for a brief period during 1951.

Lou Kretlow, a 33-year-old right hander once viewed as a potential star, was sold by the Kansas City Athletics to Seattle. He won only four games and lost nine for the Athletics last season and had a 27-47 major league record. The Athletics also optioned pitcher Dave Newkirk to Shreveport of the Texas League and Carl Duser to Little Rock of the Southern Assn.

The world champion New York Yankees reduced their squad to 26 players when they sent pitcher Jim Depalo and catcher John Blanchard to Denver in the American Assn. The Chicago Cubs trimmed their roster to 29 by sending Gene Fodge to Fort Worth and Johnny Briggs to Portland. Both young right-handed pitchers went out on option.

Celtics Beat Hawks, 124-109

BOSTON (U.P.)—The Boston Celtics were a confident lot Wednesday as they headed west to meet the St. Louis Hawks, needing just one more game to clinch their first National Basketball Association championship.

A victory for the Celtics Thursday night in the sixth game of the NBA title series would give Boston its first league crown in eleven years.

Bill Sharman poured in 32 points, 20 during Boston's second half surge Tuesday night, to give the Celtics a 124-109 victory here and a 3-2 edge in the playoffs.

Sharman had brilliant assistance from former Holy Cross stars Bob Cousy and rookie Tommy Heinsohn while leading the Celtics out of early disorganization to the vital triumph. The two ex-Crusaders, with 21 and 23 points respectively, caught fire with Sharman as Bos-

Hacker Wins Fourth Game As Reds Bombard Senators, 9-7; Cardinals Lose, 6-5

By United Press
Warren Hacker, who was plagued by the home run ball for many years, is discovering why Cincinnati Redlegs pitchers call it their best friend.

Hacker, who won only three games for the Chicago Cubs last season, chalked up his fourth victory of the Grapefruit League campaign Tuesday when the Redlegs unleashed a barrage of six homers to beat the Washington Senators, 9-7. The Redlegs have wallowed a total of nine homers behind Hacker this spring and scored 36 runs in the five games he's pitched.

Wally Post blasted two homers and Gus Bell, Ted Kluszewski, Frank Robinson and Jerry Lynch hit one each as the Redlegs made it 40 round-trippers in 29 exhibition games. That's a pace of 212 over a 154-game stretch compared to their record-tying total of 221 last season.

The National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers snapped a four-game losing streak when they whipped the Milwaukee Braves, 5-4, with a four-run rally in the ninth inning. A record crowd of 9,147 at Tulsa, Okla., saw Charley Neal's bases-filled double break up the contest after Warren Spahn in one of his few appearances against the Dodgers, yielded only three hits and one run over the first six frames.

Al Worthington and Joe Margo-neri collaborated in a five-hitter as the New York Giants downed the Cleveland Indians, 4-2. Worthington allowed both Cleveland runs and four hits in the first seven innings. Ray Narleski, working for the first time since he suffered a broken finger on March 13, pitched two hitless innings for the Indians.

Rookie Paces Cubs
Cal Neeman, a rookie who still hopes to beat out Ray Katt or Charley Silvera for the Chicago Cubs' regular catching job, drove in four runs with a homer and two doubles in an 8-3 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles.

Demand for coal in 1956 set new high marks in the electric utility, export and cement markets, according to Keystone Coal Buyers Manual, which has predicted further new highs in 1957, when consumption by those industries is expected to total 230,600,000 tons, or nearly 9 per cent above the 1956 total of 211,700,000 tons.

The spectacular Boston team-work overshadowed another typical starring display by St. Louis ace Bob Pettit, who was the game's high scorer with 33 points.

He, Cliff Hagan and Jack McMahon were the big men in keeping St. Louis in the battle most of the way. But the Hawks—playing with just eight men—didn't have enough guns to keep up with the Celtics.

Kiwanis Presents Most Valuable Player and Free Throw Awards

Ray Hassett

John Ziegler

Hassett, Ziegler Receive Plaques At Club Meeting

The Kiwanis club last night entertained the HTHS basketball players, members of the coaching staff, a couple of cheerleaders, the school principal and assistant principal. The occasion was the annual basketball banquet by the club for the awarding of plaques to the most valuable player and the player with the best percentage of free throws during the season.

The most valuable player award was presented to Ray Hassett, a junior, by Bob Rushing, vice president of the club. He also awarded the free throw plaque to John Ziegler, a senior on the squad.

Names of the winning players are engraved on the plaques which are kept on display at the high school.

The players and other guests were welcomed by Richard Davenport, president of the club and who also introduced John Dotson, head basketball coach at the school. Dotson introduced other members of the coaching staff, Hal Killebrew, Lawrence Calafetti and Ben Chamness. He also introduced Ellis Henson, principal, and Jim Beers, assistant principal.

McKinnis Speaks

Coach Dotson also introduced the players present and the two cheerleaders, Jane Capel and Jane Davis.

His only regret, Dotson said, was that too many of the players were seniors and would not be available to the team next season. However, he praised the players for their hard work this year and stated the team had a wonderful spirit all season long.

The principal speaker for the occasion was Paul McKinnis, principal of the Washington school in Eldorado, who was introduced by Fred Wunderlich.

McKinnis is a former coach and a very well known football and basketball official and he very entertainingly told of his experiences as an official at high school games and also Big Ten and other big college contests where the officials are subject to lots of criticism by the coaches and fans. The young listeners were especially delighted as Mr. McKinnis told stories of games in which the fans did not always see eye to eye with the decisions of the officials.

Praises Coaches

"Basketball can be good to the players and people should be proud of the work of the coaches," Mr. McKinnis said. "Too many times coaching is a thankless profession," he said. "They should not only be complimented for a fine team, but they are doing more than that. They are instilling in the minds

A prominent trend in waterway transportation is the growing demand for coal barges of 1,000 to 2,400-ton capacity, to carry coal to electric utility and steel plants located on the nation's inland rivers. Capacity of the 1,000-ton barges is equal to 20 fifty-ton railroad hopper cars and capacity of the 2,400-ton barges is equal to 48 fifty-ton hoppers.

Downstate Fisherman's Guide

Stream Fishing Suffers from Rains; Sahara Lake Unaffected

By Pete Brown
(From reports by the Southern Illinois Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory and the Illinois Department of Conservation)

What started out as a promising early spring campaign for Southern Illinois bass fishermen was thoroughly washed out—pardon the obvious—but the deluge had some compensations.

Crappie and bullhead "fishing" at the Crab Orchard Lake spillway has been highly productive for cane-polers. Some hefty 12 inchers were being snatched out of the eddies and comparatively untroubled pools below the spillway, and two Saturday anglers carted home 24 carp they had landed in the shallow water just above the spillway. They were using bread.

To be specific, a six hour census at the spillway Saturday showed these results: 69 crappie, 52 bullheads, 51 carp, 19 yellow bass, seven white perch, one war-mouth bass and one drum. This is for 92 man-hours fishing.

High water and wind reduced boat fishing to practically nothing, not only on Crab Orchard but nearly everywhere else.

Creeks High, Muddy
Stream fishing in the Pope county area has suffered considerably, with Grand Pierre, Bay, Miller, Big and Lusk creeks running high and muddy. Even Pounds Hollow, when checked over the weekend, was roiled and turbid, an unusual condition.

The Herrin city lake, the old West Frankfort reservoir and the Eldorado reservoir were discouragingly high and murky.

One impoundment however, showed traditional composure despite the general bluster. This is Sahara Lake, long considered a "hot" fishing location, but little known outside the Harrisburg-Carrier Mills area.

Located in the strip hills (although it is not a strip-mine pond) south of route 13 off the Carrier Mills road, the lake is owned by the Sahara Coal Company. With good bank vegetation and no appreciable drainage into it, the lake stays fairly clear even in rough weather. Only shore fishing is permitted, but habitats can show you a couple of places negotiable with waders. The company has outfitted the area with lights and comfortable picnic facilities.

Over the weekend, while many fishermen were trying to second guess the barometer, Sahara Lake fans were tying into some blue-gill (they run broadbacked and dark) and yellow perch, a species that seems to thrive. There are plenty of crappie and bass in Lake Sahara, too.

The clan of earlybirds at Little Grassy, paced by Benton's Earl Ferguson, slew some lunker sized bigmouths before the rains, and all indications point to another banner spring when things settle down.

So far, Ferguson has nailed an eight and a quarter pounder, biggest of the season at Grassy, and 10 over seven pounds. Right behind him is Glenn Morgan, of Salem, who notched an eight pound two ounce beauty on Feb. 22. Jim Serrari, Litchfield, landed an eight pounder and Frank Teveggia, Johnston City, took home a seven and a quarter pounder. The Helldiver has been Little Grassy's most reliable bait this season, as it was early last spring.

Jack Bird and James Stanton, fishing from the boat dock, tapped Pinckneyville city lake for a six and one half and a five and one half pound bass before the flood. The big one was bulging with eggs.

Shirley Temple To Make TV Debut in Fall

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD —One-time baby star Shirley Temple, away from show business for seven years, makes her "comeback" and TV debut next fall but her main job, she says, still will be as "a happy wife and mother."

After turning down movie and TV offers since she "retired" in 1950, Shirley finally consented to be hostess and narrator for a series of color spectaculars based on famous fairy tales.

"This will be kind of a little fun addition to my life," explained grown-up Shirley, now Mrs. Charles Black, on the telephone from her home in Atherton, near San Francisco.

"I'm very happy here. I've been approached many times with TV and movie offers but they always required my being away from home longer than I liked. My family thought several weeks was too long for mama to be gone."

"I accepted this offer because it doesn't require me to be gone long. My part of each show will be filmed in Hollywood in one day, and the specs will be done live in New York."

Shirley also may star in one of the NBC-TV spectaculars. The network will move the show to its Hollywood studios so Shirley won't have to fly to New York.

"I'll do that show on our vacation so my family can be with me," she said firmly. The pretty Mrs. Black, who'll be 29 April 23, is "so happy with my life" in suburban Atherton. Her husband is with the Stanford Research Institute and she lives as a typical commuter's wife. She is bringing up her three children—Susan, 9; Charles Jr., 5; Lori, 3—without household help.

She also dabbles in an interior decorating business, and is active in seven children's charities.
